Reimbursement for state re-licensure, re-certification and small business costs of dependent spouses

There has been a lot of talk recently about the Spouse Licensure Portability legislation. "In addition to that, there is a Spouse licensure reimbursement program that has been active since 2017 and has recently been amended to include costs associated with relocating a small business," says Jeff Craver, Military & Family Readiness Center flight chief. Below are the highlights, local process to submit a claim.

- These benefits provide spouses of Airmen or Guardians who PCS or PCA the opportunity to recoup up to $1,000 for re-licensing, re-certification, and/or small business costs.

- This is a Total Force benefit, so any regular Air Force, Space Force, Air Force Reserve, or Air National Guard members with qualifying PCS/PCA orders may be eligible, providing the situation meets the criteria established in the policy.

- Licensure and small business claims are distinct, and a member can file a claim for both, if all eligibility criteria are met.

- Policy for this program is in DAFMAN 36-2012.

Below is the process here locally, per SSgt Joseph Violette, 4th Comptroller Squadron:

Spouse Re-licensure/Re-certification are reimbursed to the military member via OF 1164. The member requests this reimbursement by sending an email to our FMA Org box (4cpts.fma@us.af.mil). Required documents to process this claim are :

1. PCS/ PCA orders
 - Must be filed within 24 months of authentication
 - Must have movement of dependent at government expense
 - Not authorized upon Accession, Career Intermission Program, Ret. or Sep.
2. Previous State's Licenses/ Certificates
 - Prior State License or Certificate (must match location where they are traveling from)
3. New State's Licenses/ Certificates
 - New License must be for previous occupation (Nurse to Nurse) not (Lawyer to Nurse)
4. Receipts for Reimbursement
 - Reimbursement will not exceed $1000; exam and registration fees are reimbursable.
